SHORT BIO (≈ 75 WORDS)

Ms. Darkchild — born Anissa Bane — is Philadelphia's self-proclaimed Princess of Comedy. A seasoned comedian, actress, host, and producer with 25+ years in the game, she has shared the stage with names like Gary Owen, Arnez J, and Shawn Harvey, and appeared on SHOWTIME, HBO, FOX, BET, and Comedy Central platforms. Her brand is equal parts raw, relatable, and unapologetically bold. Currently walking in her season and building her legacy through Absolute Soul Entertainment LLC.

FULL BIO (≈ 250 WORDS)

Anissa Bane stepped onto the comedy stage in 1999 and never looked back. Known by audiences across Philadelphia and the region as Ms. Darkchild, she has spent more than two decades honing a voice that is entirely her own — equal parts sharp wit, lived experience, and unfiltered truth.

Over that time she has built a formidable résumé: sharing billing with Gary Owen, Arnez J, and Shawn Harvey; hosting shows, open mics, and special events; producing original content through her company Absolute Soul Entertainment LLC; and landing appearances across SHOWTIME, HBO, Comedy Central, FOX, and BET.

Her comedy sits at the intersection of real life and reinvention — drawn from motherhood, relationships, faith, and the unyielding hustle of a Black woman building something from the ground up. She doesn't just make audiences laugh; she makes them feel seen.

Currently Ms. Darkchild is expanding her platform with new performance dates, a growing digital audience across Instagram (@datgirlcomedy), Facebook (Msdarkchild), and YouTube (@Datgirlcomedy), and a live recording event on August 16, 2026 at the Cannstatter Ballroom, Philadelphia.

Her mantra: "The princess of comedy. I'm where I am supposed to be. My journey, my story."
